NATIVITY OF ST. JOHN THE BAPTIST

INTRODUCTION TO THE LITURGY OF THE DAY!

FIRST READING: Isaiah 49:1 - 6

Isaiah foretold the birth of a man called to serve the Lord. He would be like a sharp-edged sword, a polished arrow, a light to the nations.

SECOND READING: Acts 13:22 - 26

John heralded Jesus' coming by proclaiming a baptism of repentance. John was not the Messiah but the forerunner of the One who was to come.

GOSPEL READING: Luke 1:57 - 66, 80

Elizabeth's time for delivery had come, and she gave birth. She and Zechariah named her child John. Zechariah became able to speak once again. While still in the womb, John the Baptist was called to prepare the people for the coming of the Lord. We hear today from Jeremiah or Isaiah, two prophets also called by the Lord before they were born. We ourselves were not called by God in such a dramatic way. Yet by virtue of our baptism, each of us also shares in Christ's prophetic and salvific mission. As we listen to the readings today, let us think about how we have been called.

LITURGY AND WORD

Today the Church celebrates the birthday of John the Baptist. The coming of the long awaited Messiah needed preparation and John the Baptist carried out that task brilliantly. John the Baptist and Jesus are cousins who were born six months apart. John had a short though vibrant mission. His life was cut short abruptly by Herod whose immoral marital union with Herodias John had questioned. John was imprisoned and eventually executed by Herod. It was a senseless act from Herod to execute John because it was to honor a foolish pledge made to Salome, the daughter of Herodias, his wife. The circumstances of John's birth are told elaborately in the 1st chapter of Luke's Gospel. John had a miraculous conception because his parents Zechariah and Elizabeth were elderly. They are described as being upright in the sight of God, observing all the Lord's commandments and regulations blamelessly (Lk 1:6). The motifs of the child of aged parents, the announcement of the birth by an angel, and the divinely chosen name echo the narratives of Abraham, Isaac, Samson and Samuel. That John lived an austere life is well documented in the Gospel of Mark. His early ministry took place in the wilderness of Judea and in the Jordan valley. The main theme of his preaching was the nearness of the messianic age and the need for adequate spiritual preparation to be ready for it. His mission was to prepare the people for the advent of the Messiah so that when he made his appearance, they would recognize and accept him. His message did not harmonize with what many of his hearers expected, for while they looked for deliverance from and judgement on the foreign oppressor, John said that the Messiah would separate the good from the bad and would cast into the fire any tree that did not bring forth good fruit. Many of the Jews, especially the Pharisees, thought that they would enter the kingdom of God automatically, simply because they were physically descended from Abraham; but John declared in no uncertain terms that this was not the case at all. He called on them to repent sincerely of their sins and to be baptized. The baptism by water that he administered signified a break with and cleansing from sin. His baptism prepared the people for a new life. So far the Jews baptized only the Gentiles, but he called on Jews to baptize themselves; and his baptism was a baptism in preparation for the messianic baptism of the Spirit anticipated by the prophets. The Gospels tell us that John met his death through the vindictiveness of Herodias, whom John had denounced for her sin of living in adultery with Herod. John the Baptist was an ascetic, and conducted a ministry in the Judean wilderness that involved preaching and baptism. His popularity and the revolutionary possibilities of his message of social justice led to his arrest, imprisonment, and execution by Herod Antipas, probably in A.D. 28 or 29.

LITURGY AND WORD Cont'd
